

Dog Patch Jamboree

ADAPTING the characters and setting of a newspaper cartoon, employees of Joliet Arsenal, the Ordnance Ammunition Center, and U. S. Rubber company will stage a Dog Patch Jamboree April 19 at Joliet Arsenal under the auspices of the Civilian Welfare Fund.

Miss Helen Baskerville of Symerton, chairman of the entertainment committee, posed with Li'l Abner, as characterized by Robert Avery of Peoria. The characters will cavort from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. to the tunes of Roy Gordon and his orchestra.

Other committee members are Beverly Browne, U. S. Rubber company, Geraldine Todd, Joliet Arsenal, Angie Petrucci and Helen Pasich of OAC.

As an indication of what is in store at the arsenal recreation hall Saturday night, the committee has posted such announcements as: "Daisy Mae Got her man—why don't you get yours?"

"Hog-tie the varmit and tote him to the DOG PATCH JAMBOREE!"

"Fellows, forget your neckties!"

"Gals, dig out your cotton skirts!"

"Spruce up, you li'l Abners — Daisy does the asking—and the paying (tickets, checking, refreshments, prizes) for a gen-u-wine good time!"

Prizes will be awarded for the best characterization, and the only imposed restrictions are "chawin' tobaccy at intermission only," and "Shoes will be worn 'til midnight."
